More Street Repairs; Town Lets Contract

The Jeffersontown Town Council, in session Monday night, accepted the bid of the Louisville Hardscapes Company to repair streets and the bridge. The contractor's bid was for filling holes in the streets at $15 per ton of asphalt materials to be used.

Representatives of the local Businessmen's Club present were W. C. Dierck and F. W. Strohmeier, Sr. They told members of the Council that it is the club's desire to let contracts for town authority in the promotion of the community's best interests, and expressed appreciation of the Council's efforts toward getting street repairs.

The Jeffersontown Road Department finished repairing the south end of Main Street last week an outstanding improvement and boon to the local traveling public. The repair work was done cooperatively by the Town and County.

4-H Stock Judging School Here Friday

The Jefferson County agricultural agents are presenting, Friday day, a 4-H stock judging training school. At 10 a. m. the dairy division of the school will assemble at Plainview Dairy, on Hurstbourne Lane. At the same hour, the beef, hog, and lamb stock judging will meet at Oxmoor Farm, Shelbyville Road.

The school, in charge of professors of the Animal Husbandry Department of the University of Kentucky, will train 4-H members to take part in judging at the State Fair this year. Jefferson County boys of 13 and up, and girls who have cattle and swine projects, are invited to the school.

The County will have a stock judging team at the fair this year, according to H. C. Brown, associate county agent.

A. E. Fins Sues The Attorney-Generalship

Former Bullitt County citizen, now in law practice in Frankfort, as senior member of the law firm of Funk, Chancellor and Danner, A. E. Funk, a seasoned Democrat, is asking to be nominated at the forthcoming August 2 primary for the office of Attorney General.

In Bullitt County, June 14, 1888, about five miles north of Shepherdsville at Brooks Station, he was Assistant Attorney General under B. M. Vinson and Hubert C. Smith, two-termers, and is a World War I veteran. He also served in the State Highway Department, and is well known throughout the state.

The Jeffersonian Featured Town Pump Rills Forty Years Ago

In the second issue of The Jeffersonian, June 20, 1907 (later, Mrs. Slaughter), were running, leading, double column, the first page. Her opening jingle ran:

"Ye lovers in the public parks
Love-making must now cease,
'We'll have,' the snarling gossip
barks.
'A Matron of Police;
She'll intercept your stolen
kisses,
She'll club you for the joys she misses,
There's nothing fiercer than these sis—
Beware!'

Then the sprightly writer squares off with an indignant put-down these neophytes in parks and pleasure grounds. "Cupid's rosy face looks like a war map of Manchuria," she observes. For, "if there is one thing that makes a man want to be attractive it is the green, shady spots scattered around where loving hearts can saunter at will and forget the size of papa's body." The author, little Mrs. Slaughter, who is always on tap at home! In a "word to the wise," she advises the young lovers to "take heed," and "gather your roses while you may."

Thus Elvira wrote to "It has not yet been decided whether Col. Will S. Hayes wrote Dixie or not, but the Colonels in the '40s did the job." The Filson Club got up an argument about it and decided to track the author of the song to his lair, but the question was referred to the committee on semantics. Meanwhile, waiting, the Colonel is making frequent trips to Orel, while his cousin, Major Hayes, has a houseful of pretty daughters.

(Editor's Note: The inspiring song, Dixie, which will arouse spontaneous applause and cheers whenever it is sung, has not been heard anywhere—North, South, East or West—was written by Daniel Decatur Emmett in 1859. The author of the "Negro minstrel," in a Columbus, Ohio, hotel in 1859. It afterward became the war song of the South.

Another Victim Of Eastwood Explosion Dies

Another victim of the explosion which occurred February 27 at Floyd's Fork bridge on Shelbyville Road, where a rock loader, with an infernal shriek, struck the bridge, is Albert Harrison of Eastwood. Harrison who suffered burns in the explosion died at General Hospital, July 3 at 10:00 p. m. in his sixty-fifth year.

Prior to his tragedy he made his home in Tyler and formerly in Jefferson, the former having died instantaneously at the time of the explosion.

Funeral services were held at two o'clock Sunday afternoon from Myers Funeral Home, Middleton with burial in Middleton Cemetery.

Preacher Scientist

Rev. H. T. Moody, Jr. To Preach Here Sunday

The Jeffersontown Methodist Church pulpit will be filled Sunday, July 13, by Rev. Howard T. Moody, Jr., who will preach at the 11 o'clock service.

Rev. Moody, who recently received his B.D. degree at Candler School of Theology, is currently spending several days with his parents before entering into summer work, a special college project, with Rev. John Brinkley, at Aransasport, Texas, where he will take special training in preparation for missionary work in a foreign country.

Rev. W. F. Hudleston, pastor of the Jeffersontown church, extends an invitation to all friends of the community to attend.

BUECHEL'S 24 VOLUNTEER FIREMEN TRAIN FOR SERVICE

Buechel's 24 firemen have just recently undergone a week's training under Captain V. A. Beam, of the State Department of Vocational Education. Their equipment includes two pumpers, No. 1 of which is shown above. The force is headed by Chief W. E. Rives with the following volunteer force:

Thurston Schmidt, Alvin Graff, Herbert Downey, Norbert Schmitz, Frank Layman, Bill Haney, Frank Allegier, Gene Hardin, Leonard Tyler, Roy Schmidt, George Stutzemberger, Newton Miller, C. L. Moore, Jr., Bob Guttermann, Cliff Jackson and Bill Carr. The latter two men were absent when the picture was taken. Chief Rives stands first in front of the cab. The two "junior firemen" are Romeo Allegier and Dickie Rives.

J'Town 12, Anchorage 3 Are Sunday's Results

In the only game played in the Suburban Amateur Baseball League last Sunday the Gentleman from Anchorage defeated the Anchorage team by 12 to 3 on the local diamond. Early morning rains flooded the diamond but Walter Hardin, the ground crew, did a fine time. Earl Rea Jean started on the mound for Jeffersontown and seemed headed for a shut out but hit in the eighth inning.

Buck Colyer pitched six innings for Anchorage and was followed by West.

Bob Hall, the Anchorage base-runner, who was felled when hit by a ball thrown by Joe Reid, is reported to be suffering no injuries.

Ellison A. C. comes to Jeffersontown Sunday.

NO PROMISER

FRANKFORT.—H. T. (Hub) Perdew, chief corporal of the 10th Cavalry, Frankfort, said today that July 18 was the deadline for all candidates to file their pre-prime expense accounts with his office in the State Capital building.

In explaining the statutory provision, Perdew said that some of the candidates would probably file their accounts in time, but a reminder would probably them from making this mistake.

Perdew, himself, is a candidate seeking the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State.

TO CANDIDATES From High View

By Agnes Yvonne
It's a big ball they are rolling out high view lately.

Thursday night High View was represented at the Jefferson County Horse Show at Okolona. Friday, June 23, Jones gave swimming instructions to the children who went to Lightwater Lakes. Saturday night the area will feature each Friday for all the children, who desire to swim.

Miss Clayton has changed her classing class to 1 p.m., each Monday.

Tuesday, Miss Coggage brought a new material to our children. She taught the ones present to make belts, banners, purses and other articles.

Wednesday, Mrs. Brakemeyer had her "folk" game class. They learned one new game and she remained in the class was one of the best. Let's hope it will be on Friday.

The monthly meeting of the Community Club was moved up to Wednesday, July 2, because of Friday being Independence Day.

As you know each Friday night at 9:30 is club night. Thursday night Mr. Lamb has his music class, while Mrs. Lamb has her music class. Some have had one or more years of music. These children will be our band members of the future, and that High View Band can be proud of.

Friday will be our "band" up at 10:30 a.m. At 2 o'clock we have a track meet. The winners of various games to go to Valley on a 3-day basis.

The baseball team will also play a competition game with others serving the winners a treat and having to abstain themselves. We expect this game to be interesting and will be.

Upon completion of the equipment shed we will have our band in plain view of the road.

Please don't forget the club's first day at the Fire Station at 5 p.m., July 12. We will have the dedication of the Fire Station when entertainment and the Jefferson County Band is to be there.

John C. Bruce will soon begin the erection of a three story building on the public square where the old hotel burned last winter.

Mrs. E. P. Sweeny has completed a nice cottage in Gregg's Addition, to be occupied by S. C. Bow.

E. W. McMahan is finishing a new home in Livingston Heights.

High View To Dedicate Fire House Saturday

A Fish Fry at High View Fire House will high-light the evening of Saturday, July 12 when the Catholic Church picnic, J. E. Clegg, chairman, will be held. The church will dedicate the High View Fire Department.

Taking part in the dedication ceremony will be Judge Horace M. Barker, County Commissioner; E. P. White and County Fire Chief Claude Thompson. Music will be furnished by the all-around band under the direction of Kenneth Lane.

Beginning at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, supper will be served until 8 p.m. when the dedication program will be held.

A NEWS ITEM: Phone The Jeffersonian, 5143.

Despite Decreases Death Toll Is High

The Grim Reaper continues to take his death toll from highway, railroads, general, residential, homes, and from occupational accidents. Holiday toll for the three day Fourth of July week was at 100, up from 96 in 1946. Summer life appears commonly in danger. Care is shown to be in active competition with carelessness, negligence, according to present reports.

The fatal report of the Louisville Safety Council, January 1, to July 1, just issued by Managing Director, Elmer Hack, shows a total of 94 deaths from motor vehicle accidents in the area which includes City, Jefferson County, Floyd and Clark Counties, Indiana.

From other places, for the same period, in the same area, in 1946, the total was 90.

Holiday accidents in the area in 1946 for this half year, period, caused 33 deaths. In 1946, 30.

Occupational accidents caused 13 deaths in the three months period in 1947 in the same area, 6 in 1946.

From other places, for the same period, in the same area, in 1946, the total was 10.

With the answer apparently, better policing and proper supervision, the Board of Aldermen, the Louisville City Council, of Thruway Park, located on the River Road between Ohio and Adams, at its meeting Tuesday night, Vandals was claimed as the reason of park's ruined condition. A "quarantine" element used to close the park before the 1937 flood, it was explained, but roughanism of late led to the willful destruction of fixtures in restrooms.

The bill met almost solid opposition of Democrats, including Kentucky's own, B. M. Barkley, despite the fact that Senator John Cooper, Kentuckian, recently adopted a presidential succession bill which will end the power of the Chief Executive to choose his successor in the event of the death of the President.

The measure provides that if for any reason the President is neither able to discharge the duties of the office of President, the Speaker of the House will fill the office. If the Speaker does not qualify, the President pro tempore of the Senate shall act as President of the U. S.

As the scavenger fly, delayed somewhat by the "backward season," has appeared to confront us, we have again resorted to protective screens and, as reported, has naturally gone straight to the "sugar bowl" in public food-eating places where the scavenger fly, having been stored to the table. Health authorities have discovered that old-type containers, without lids, permit the fly to get into the sugar and into coffee served. Inspections are being made and will continue throughout city and county on all sugar handling.

PROMISING DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN

These are "promising" days—when candidates for political office are working overtime in efforts to out-promote each other, relative to measures of a popular note. It is refreshing to observe, at least one leading candidate is willing to admit that he cannot "produce the millennium if elected." We can only wonder what he probably meant to imply, that neither can the rest of them.

This reminds us of one important factor concerning the issues of the State campaign, which is now well under way in the contest for nominations. Promises involve character of men by whom they are made. We submit that the man which even the most probably realizes the most that is fundamental, and since it has much bearing on the performance of the successful candidate when he assumes the duties of his office, it deserves first consideration.

First of all, the voter should desire to know the man himself; his background; his past response to pressure from subversives; for how long he has been in politics; and the kind of life of service to his fellowmen. His dependability in his duty outweighs in importance, even his ability to serve his constituents at a responsible post. For if a man cannot be depended on to do his rightful duty in the face of pressure (and pressure is sure to come), his ability will mean nothing to his credit.

It must be admitted that the forces of evil are well entrenched in our State. They have a strong grip on our political life. Many of our public officials have been, oftentimes, hampered in some instances and hamstrung in others. Some who have even desired to do the right thing have found themselves so enmeshed in complicated connection with political organizations, liberally supported, and consequently largely controlled, that they have lost their independence. We submit that the voter's political interests that they were powerful to do their duty, particularly at least, unless they were willing to commit political suicide.

There never was a more urgent need of men, real God-fearing men, in positions of public trust than there is today. This is so urgently true that all voters should realize and respect the importance of citizenship above partisanship as concerns the welfare of our democracy.

HOW ABOUT A FAMILY COURT?

Should Louisville, Jefferson County, have a Family Court—otherwise known as a Court of Domestic Relations? The question has been asked. Judge Hoffman, of Cincinnati, says it works—admirably. He told the Rotary Club of Louisville of his experiences, in an address at the Brown Hotel sometime ago, declaring such a court solves, to a surprising extent, the problems of the home, married life, and reduces immorality and crime.

Success lies in the secret hearings, all cases being tried in private chambers, he said. There are no curious spectators—all a "family affair" between judge and parties immediately concerned. There are even no lawyers as there is no need for them.

The judge appeals to conscience—propriety—just what is "right." He can send to jail and levy a fine, if necessary, but declared that out of the first 100 cases before him, he had to invoke this means of "punishment" but two times. The judge and understanding win, the judge becomes "the friend," not the "august 'foe' of the derelicts—the unfaithful, the adult delinquents—men or wife.

When wife complains of husband's actions, the husband is brought in and questioned. Investigation is made. If guilty, he is appealed to to mend his ways. If he doesn't, they are "remanded" by the court. Same with the wife. Both sides are heard patiently, sympathetically. Many broken homes are restored.

Outside influences, such as the "third party," are stopped before they "go going" or have gone "too far." Judge Hoffman said. "The court's orders do this, plus the help of the experienced lawyer." "I tell them not to try to deceive the court," Judge Hoffman said. "I tell them, 'I can catch you with them.' In many cases the court has become a real home advisor—a confidant. He sees after the welfare of the children, as most important.

Family courts with jurisdiction over parents, as well as children, Judge Elwood F. Nelson, of the Family Court of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and recently, would "go a long way toward solving the problem of juvenile delinquency." Eighty-five per cent of juvenile delinquents he declared, are neglected children whose parents give them no support, supervision or discipline.

KENTUCKY'S PARKS PRAISED

Visitors to Kentucky's State parks, especially from other states, constantly give praise and some can't resist advocating extensions and improvements.

W. D. Thomas of Lexington, writing in the Point of View column of the Courier-Journal, praises Joe Creason's recent article in that newspaper on State Parks, and expresses the hope that it will be read widely. Describing himself as a "transplanted" Kentuckian, he writes: "To this State from Pennsylvania, Mr. Thomas, who writes this article, several times a year, thinks the government officials should take more interest, appropriate more money, improve facilities."

"In Pennsylvania," Mr. Thomas points out, "more money has been given to one park than is given to all Kentucky's 21 parks. And, incidentally, there are numerous parks in Pennsylvania that draw more people in a year than all of Kentucky's parks."

"However, there is not a single park in Pennsylvania that compares in natural beauty with such Kentucky parks as Cumberland Falls, Natural Bridge, Butler Memorial and others with which I am familiar. The question then arises in my mind, how much longer will Kentucky allow its park system to lag behind that of other States much less blessed with natural beauty."

"As Mr. Creason pointed out, much more than $150,000 will be needed to put Kentucky parks out of the red. Now is the time for all persons interested in good parks to start talking about a sizable appropriation from the next Legislature," he says.

Special Mention For Southern R.R. Advertising

The American Newspaper Publishers Association has selected the newspaper advertising of the Southern Railway System for inclusion in its annual "Best in the Blue Book" as one of the "fifty best newspaper campaigns in 1946," it was just announced. Signs of E. E. Nease, the railway's President, and the advertisements appear in this page regularly.

It was also announced that the Southern Railway placed first among the 10 leading transportation advertisements mentioned in a summary of the first 100 reports of the Continuing Study of Newspaper Reading, an independent survey made for the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Newspaper advertising, according to the survey, is the medium that "effectively, efficiently and economically permits us to personally 'drop in' for a visit' with the people who are our neighbors, customers and fellow workers in the territory we serve."

PICKINGS From The Press

THAT'S GOING TOO FAR

After the Senate's veto of President Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley bill, Senator Hoey (Dem. N.C.) strode over to the Republican side of the chamber, in Washington, and congratulated Senator Taft (Rep. Ohio). The two smiled jubilantly—Hoey had voted with the Republicans again.

Comments later, the telephone lines crackled, in C. News and Observer office. It was a long-distance call from Washington. A voice trembled, as if identifying himself as North Carolina's son in Washington, the caller indignantly related what he had just seen. "And do you know what our senator did?" he exclaimed. "Then, still heatedly, 'He shook hands with a communist. Japan would like to get home to normal quickly, and making the effort.'

A MATTER OF BUTTER AND EGGS

Frederick F. French, foreign correspondent for the Chicago Sun, wires his newspaper from London that Britain, by signing a three-year trade agreement with Poland, is "stepping out of line" in its policy of the States' tough policy toward the Soviet-controlled part of Europe.

"A similar gesture of British self-assertion may be made soon in Yugoslavia. Britain's air minister, Sir Alan M. Beale, leaving Wednesday for Belgrade, the official reason for his visit is to open an exhibition of British books, but it is understood he will bring preliminary talks for an Anglo-Yugoslavia commercial pact.

"These slight British deviations from the American line in eastern and southern Europe, however, will be supported by British stomachs. In the case of Poland, bacon and eggs which the Poles now will supply to Britain take precedence over butter and eggs."

"British" involve in improving her relations with certain countries in the Soviet orbit is primarily economic. Expansions of trade with these nations can help to reduce the lead of Britain's imports over her exports."

HENRY A. WALLACE WEATHER-MAKER

In an oblique reference to the political career of Henry A. Wallace's speech at Washington's Water Gate, Representative Jackson (Rep., Calif.) gave the House a weather-forecast of the day Wallace was speaking. It was as follows:

"Today is a most unusual day in the history of weather. A cold front has passed early this evening, accompanied by mounting temperatures. It will center at Water Gate, on the Potomac, and will be accompanied by high winds, blowing alternate hot and cold."

"Freezing temperatures can be expected in the vicinity of 1800 Pennsylvania Av. and in the northern side of the House of Representatives. Silver clouds will be in evidence, turning a dead red at nightfall."

"Gentle, variable winds emanating in Eastern Europe will increase to tornado proportions and all loose items in the way of foreign policy and dollar credits should be battened down. Tomorrow, fair and warmer?" Clinton (Conn.) Sun.

World News Flash

The Liberty Bell, like "The Shot Heard Around The World" was heard in many lands July 4. In the Senate, Pres. Truman down, speeches held out the hope of freedom, peace. Thomas Jefferson's words and those of the Declaration of Independence were recalled. World settlement of problems were thrown into the lap of Uncle Sam and the United Nations Organization. Patiently, the world waited for the answer. The Marshall plan, denounced by Russia, upheld by other countries is still causing easing discussions with a big Paris conference on Saturday of this week. Franco is to remain in Spain. Peron pledges Argentina's full resources aid to countries severely punished by the United Nations. He wants to be free and asks Uncle Sam's aid. India is to be partitioned, but for a time, at least will continue as part of the British Commonwealth. Japan would like to get home to normal quickly, and making the effort.

Spanish voters July 6 ratified a law confirming Franco as Chief of State for life and setting up a method of choosing a king or regent to succeed him. It was the first time Spain has had a king in 15 years and passed off quietly. Government officials said 80 percent of the electorate turned out —90 percent voted for the success of the law. Franco's popularity is still high. The referendum confirmed Spain, "a Catholic, holistic and representative State which, in accordance with its tradition, is a kingdom."

A group of 20 educators, churchmen, led by Robert M. Hutchins, Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, President of Chicago's encyclopedic, Rev. William J. Miller, president of the William of Detroit, and others, in Washington, Sunday, July 6, opposition to the Senate's report of President Truman's "no war" policy.

Mr. Hutchins, Milton Travers, is an out-moded form of military preparation in the atomic age and "gives a nation the feeling of power without the reality of power."

Arabs, "up in arms" and in a series of speeches still to be made this week under the United Nations met their demands for sovereignty and steps were taken for the first aid of Arab lands.

The Arab League, determined to strengthen the boycott against Zionist goods. Revolution was promised "as something that cannot be avoided unless Great Britain and our independence."
